Research Dissemination Award Travel Policy and Request Form

This document summarizes the College of Architecture's Research Dissemination Award Travel Policy. In August of 2013, the Vice-President for Research (VPR) made funding available to College's to administer supplemental research dissemination travel programs. The CoA's Directors are responsible for making recommendations to the Dean for these awards. The program is merit based, and funds may not be used for costs incurred while performing research and creative activity, but to disseminate research and creative activity to a broader academic or professional audience. Awardees are required to fully participate (present a paper/poster, chair a session, participate in a research seminar, etc.) at the conference or similar venue, and not merely attend.

Awards and Eligibility

All awards are cost reimbursable. Receipts and relevant CoA travel reimbursement paperwork must be completed within 30 days of return travel. Otherwise, the award amount shall be forfeited.

The awards shall be made available per the following:

- As $500 awards to be recommended by the CoA Directors with one award per year per applicant
- For use by CoA faculty (of any rank) and students (listed as co-authors or equivalent with faculty) for research dissemination-related travel to present research and creative activity accomplishments (peer-reviewed work strongly preferred*), and not for costs incurred during the research
- Students who apply for an award must be in good academic standing with the CoA and/or Graduate College
- With the recommendation that the applicant seek additional funds as needed
- With no restrictions on domestic or international travel
- With the completion of a form signed by the:
 - Applicant,
 - Faculty member supervising student research (when applicable), and
 - Related Division Director.

Submission

Related Division Director to deliver signed form to the Dean's Office for final approval.
